

Nutrition Research Project

Does the project or study have direct activity in Asia-Pacific?

What regions is this activity in?

How long has the project or initiative been in progress?

Provide a short overview of the project or initiative, stating the main aims and key outcomes: (Please use non-technical language in this section and keep answers brief, you may provide further details and references to studies in the next questions. box answer limited to 250 words)

What major consumer demand, policy issue, or public health concern does the research project address?

How does your project provide a unique nutritional solution to this consumer need or problem? (Please use non-technical language in this section and keep answers brief, you may provide further details and references to studies in the next questions)

Provide an outline of the methodology of the project: (Please use non-technical language and keep answers brief, you may provide more detail and references in the next questions)

Have any peer reviewed primary research and/or clinical trials been published as a direct result of this project?

Please provide any further technical details relating to the aims, methodology, results and key outcomes of your research project. You may also supply up to five references to published peer reviewed research.

Is there a commercial interest, or commercial potential, related to your research project?

Has your project resulted in engagement or increased interest from the dietary supplements, functional food, or health food industry? If so, how? Where possible give examples.